Hoquiam Business Association Celebrates Hoquiam

Local News

Posted by: Anonymous

Posted on : January 19, 2010 at 5:15 am

Hoquiam, WA - The Hoquiam Business Association is getting ready to toast it’s own hometown success stories with a gala dinner event on January 30th. The evening commences at 5pm with a social hour, followed by dinner at 6:00. The keynote speaker will be Chester Trabucco, noted for his successful renovation of the Hotel Elliot in Astoria and his new project in Aberdeen, the Morck Hotel.

Awards will be presented to 4 Hoquiam businesses in the following categories;

Revitalization Project of the Year
Green Business of the Year
Next Generation Award
Legacy Award

Tickets are $25.00 each and are available at Harbor Drug and Crown Drug. Dinner will be catered by Alexanders’ Grill, a highly lauded Hoquiam restaurant. Modesty is a virtue which Hoquiam has perfected. For almost 120 years Hoquiam businesses have quietly provided the highest degree of customer service, customers have quietly appreciated and come to depend upon the high standard of excellence, and a quiet air of contented gentility has been worn like a cloak.

It has not escaped the notice of the Hoquiam Business Association that most of the rest of the world shouts claims of impossible accomplishments, jumping up and down in a frenzy of self-congratulatory babble.

The time has come for Hoquiam to toss away the cloak of quiet pride and step forward to brag!

Crossing Bridges promises (and you can go to the bank on that promise!) to provide an evening of revelry and celebration .