Follow WSDOT on Twitter

Local News

Posted by: David Haviland

Posted on : August 13, 2010 at 5:55 am

People can now follow the Washington State Patrol (#WSP) on Twitter. The Patrol will look to use Twitter to connect with people about issues of driver safety and enforcement; it also gives people the ability to follow our Forensic Laboratory Services Bureau and the State Fire Marshal’s Office.

The WSP plans to have the all of its districts on the Eastside and Westside available on Twitter soon. For more information about the Washington State Patrol please go to www.wsp.wa.gov.

To avoid potential conflicts, WSP will not tweet general road closure information already being broadcast on several platforms by WSDOT. Members of the public seeking traffic and highway information should visit WSDOT’s web site at www.wsdot.wa.gov.

People who are interested in following WSP can connect on Twitter at:

By District or Bureau	User Names
WSP Headquarters (Statewide)

@wastatepatrol

District 1
(Pierce and Thurston Counties)

@wspd1pio

District 2
(King County)

@wspd2pio

District 5
(Clark, Cowlitz, Klickitat, Lewis, and Skamania Counties)

@wspd5pio

District 8
(Clallam, Grays Harbor, Jefferson, Kitsap, Mason, Pacific, and Wahkiakum Counties)

@wspd8pio

Commercial Vehicles Division
(CVD Statewide)

@wspcvdpio

WA State Fire Marshal’s Office
(Fire Prevention Services, Fire Preparedness)

@wa_sfmo

Forensic Services Bureau
(Crime Lab, Toxicology Lab, and Impaired Driving)

@wsplabpio

WSP Equipment and Standards
*(Statewide)*

@wspequipmentpio